Study: The Hearing Aid Acoustics Campus on the path to inclusion!

The aim is to present the first representative survey on disabilities, disadvantages, and inclusion among trainees in the hearing aid acoustics trade.

Hearing care professionals play a fundamental role in the inclusion of people with hearing impairments through the provision of care and advice. At the same time, it is also a challenge to be inclusive as a training company and educational institution. The Hearing Care Campus focuses on the topic of inclusion both in its professional activities and in its own training activities.
