Ticket shop now open: Secure your tickets now for the 70th International Congress of Hearing Aid Acousticians and the industry exhibition

(Frankfurt/Münster, 16 July 2026) The ticket shop for the 70th International Congress of Hearing Aid Acousticians is now open. From 14 to 16 October 2026, the international hearing aid industry will gather at the exhibition centre in Hanover.

It pays to book early: anyone booking their ticket by 16 August 2026 will save between 10 and 25 euros net per ticket, depending on the ticket category. If several staff members from the same specialist practice register, the savings add up.

Look forward to an exceptionally comprehensive programme: with the combined ticket for the congress and industry exhibition, participants gain access to 29 specialist lectures on current topics in hearing aid and audiology. In addition, they can attend the 33 scientific lectures at the parallel ICHM8 – the 8th International Conference on Hyperacusis and Misophonia. Five additional tutorials, available to book separately, offer the opportunity to explore selected topics in greater depth with a practical focus.

At the international industry exhibition in Hall 6, over 140 exhibitors – including 25 new exhibitors – will be presenting new products, technologies and services for hearing care, hearing aid fitting and optometry/hearing aid combined practices.

The programme is complemented by 25 presentations in the EUHA Live Area, which are open to all visitors to the industry exhibition. There, companies, start-ups and experts will present the latest innovations, new ideas and practical solutions for everyday professional life.

On Friday, the focus will be on the practical application of artificial intelligence. AI Friday will use specific examples to demonstrate how AI can already be used in hearing aid practices today and what opportunities this presents for organisation, communication and customer care.

There will also be plenty of opportunity for personal and international exchange. The Congress Get-together will highlight the partner country, the Netherlands, under the motto 'Orange is the New Sound'. Participants can look forward to an international evening with plenty of opportunities for networking. Tickets for the Congress Get-Together are also available from the EUHA Ticket Shop.

Visitors can choose from day tickets and multi-day tickets as combined tickets for the congress and industry exhibition, as well as separate day tickets for the industry exhibition. School pupils, apprentices and students can attend free of charge.
